Forty High School Boys To Go Into Camp for Week

STATE COLLEGE, July 23.—Forty high school boys from southern and southwestern sections of Pennsylvania will arrive at the Junior Conservation Camp in Stone Valley, near Petersburg, tomorrow. They will remain in camp until August 3.

The camp is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs. Robert Cooper, president of the Federation, says the aim of the camp are to give boys an appreciation of the wise use of our natural resources; to develop better human resources in having the boys outdoors in wholesome activities and hobbies; and to improve social resources by having the boys work together and adjust to group activities as a part of their training.

The Stone Valley Camp, built for the summer training of Penn State civil engineering students, consists of tents, each with facilities for four boys; a central administration building; and a dining hall. Charles W. Stoddard, extension director of the School of Physical Education and Athletics at Penn State, is state chairman for the camp while Charles Ridenour, also on the Penn State faculty, is camp director. James C. and John D. Dittmar, twin brothers of Loysburg, are counselors.

Counties which will send boys to the camp tomorrow are Mifflin, Juniata, Dauphin, Perry, Lebanon, Lancaster, York, Adams, Franklin, Cumberland, Armstrong, Indiana, Westmoreland, Allegheny, Washington, Greene, Fayette, Somerset, and Beaver.

Justices May Hold 24-Week Refresher Course

DOYLESTOWN, July 23.—A 24-week refresher course in minor judiciary training is being considered by members of the Bucks County Magistrates and Justices of the Peace Association. The holding of a clam bake is also being planned for September. The clam bake may be held at the Killian Country Club, Edgington.

In the absence of the president, Walter Scheetz, Riegelsville, Justice of the Peace Fred L. Bickel, Warminster, presided, and one new member, Justice of the Peace B. Frank Brunner, this place, was welcomed.

Secretary I. Elizabeth Jones, Jamison, read a communication from Harold W. Pierce, Public Service Institute, Department of Public Instruction, asking whether Justice of the Peace Horace A. Cooper, Middletown township, will serve as instructor for the refresher course in civil and criminal classes.

Justice of the Peace Cooper, who said he didn't expect to be around all winter, declined the responsibility of serving as the instructor and suggested that some one else be elected in his place.

Max M. Lawrence, Bristol; Horace A. Cooper, Langhorne; and Richard A. Hopkins, Hulmeville, were named members of a picnic committee to arrange a clambake picnic for the latter part of September at Killian's Country Club.

The next meeting of the County organization will be held at Riegelsville Thursday, August 18, when the Northampton Justices of the Peace will meet jointly with them.

Thirty dealers from New York, Delaware, New Jersey, Penna. and Maryland, are exhibiting this year in the largest antique grouping ever shown in Doylestown, with beautiful booths full of all types of articles from the familiar iron toys and pressed glass to rare pieces of china, quilts, silver, jewelry and furniture.

With Chief of Police Newton Rapp, Constable Clarence K. Wenhold, both of Quakertown, and Constable Joseph Glove, Milford twp., as the hosts, the July meeting of the Bucks County Police Association will be held at the Moose Home, Quakertown, Thursday, July 28, at 7:30 o'clock.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

President Truman's program to supply military aid to the nations associated with the United States in the North Atlantic treaty will be submitted to Congress on Monday.

Some of the strongest critics of the plan conceded that it was likely to win Congressional approval. Mr. Truman had originally intended to send his plan to Congress yesterday but withheld it at the request of Senate leaders.

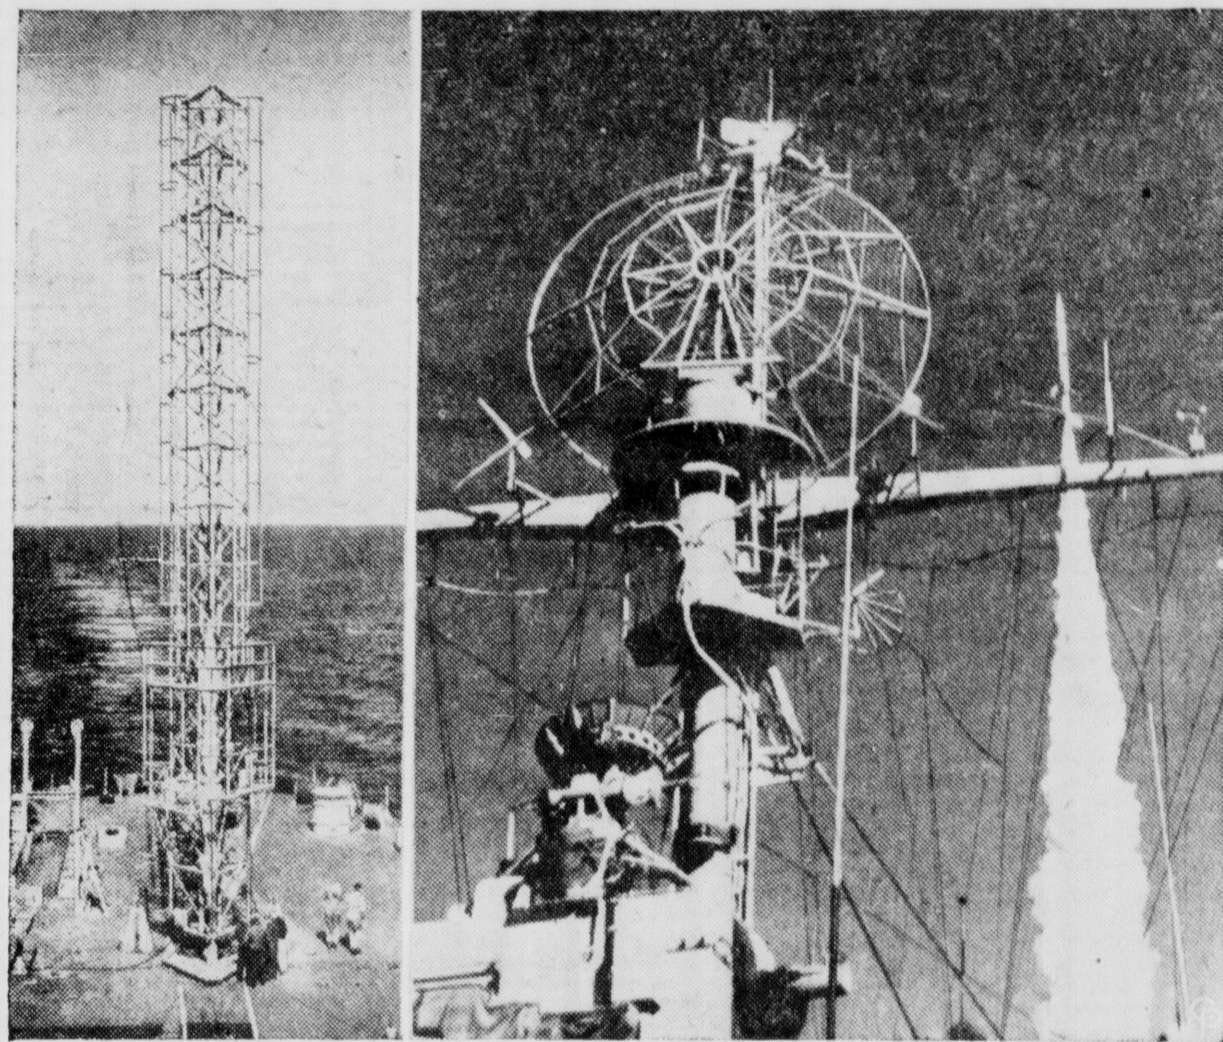

Proposed slashes in Marshall Plan spending probably will be approved by the Senate, it was indicated as that body opened debate on the $5,573,724,000 bill for financing foreign aid through the present fiscal year.

The French National Assembly began its debate on ratification of the North Atlantic Treaty and was expected to vote Sunday or Monday. Soviet newspapers condemned the treaty as a threat to world peace and asserted that most Americans opposed it.

A document purportedly describing the entire code of laws governing forced labor in the Soviet Union was made public by the British Government and will be circulated among members of the United Nations Economic and Social Council.

BILLBOARDS LIKELY TO BE BIGGER THAN EVER

May Soon Be Able To Drive From Coast To Coast Without Seeing Scenery

INDUSTRY CONFIDENT

NEW YORK, July 23 (INS).—As any American with a third-grade education knows, home-grown scenery is strictly for yokels, squates—or worse yet—for poets.

But the nation can take heart in the announcement that the recession is having no visible effect on outdoor advertising prospects for 1950.

In fact, the industry as a whole is confident that more, bigger and better billboards than ever will help blot any remaining traces of landscape along the nation's highways in another year or so.

The current fiscal year has been a lullapalooza for the outdoor advertising agencies, and 1950 promises to be just as good if not better.

It seems entirely likely that within a few years a sensitive city boy will be able to drive from coast to coast without any disconcerting glimpses of Nature leering in the raw from field and stream.

It will all be billboarded up, and a man's delicate sensibilities will not be jarred by all those trees and other hick green stuff.

Unadorned American scenery can be very unliking, as no one knows better than I. Only a week ago, I had a terrible experience—drove 100 miles north of New York City into Dutchess county with nary a billboard to break the monotony of the journey.

On the Westchester county and New York State parkways, they are simply and unalterably opposed to

KNOWLEDGE LACKING ON IMPACT OF TRADE

Americans Are Not Familiar With Impact of Such In China

NO TRADE LICENSED

By Howard Handelman

(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent) TOKYO, July 23 (INS).—American lack of knowledge of the impact of new Siberian industries has been illustrated vividly in Tokyo. A Chinese trader declared that Siberian industry could not become an effective supplier of North China because Soviet prices are too high. Foreign trade officials on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's staff, asked for their opinion on whether this was true, said: "We just don't have enough information on Siberian industry or Siberian price levels to make any intelligent comment."

State Department economists in Tokyo threw up their hands, too, on the same grounds.

Military intelligence knows that the Russians are bending every effort to develop a complete and self-sufficient industrial plant in Siberia.

Reports from thousands of Japanese repatriates do not fill in details on the place that Siberia could take in trade competition in Asia or anywhere else, the cost of production, the quality of production or even the quantity of production.

MacArthur's Foreign Trade Division said it has been approached quite often by Japanese and Chinese traders who claim they can make deals with North China, but said that so far none has been able to quote prices or delivery dates so no trade has been licensed.

It has been fairly well established however, that Japanese goods are going to North China via Hong Kong, which has supplanted Shanghai as the main trading center of Asia.

Warms of Expiration Of Period For Inspection

HARRISBURG, July 23.—Acting Secretary of Revenue Otto F. Messner announced today that all vehicles must be inspected by midnight, July 31, 1949, or those who are delinquent may find themselves in violation of the law.

Acting Secretary Messner stated that a recent check-up shows that a very high percentage of all vehicles observed on the streets have already been inspected and bear the current sticker. He added that in the last few years efforts made by the Department, automobile dealers and other inspection station proprietors to encourage early inspections have been very successful.

Mr. Messner revealed that the trade has continued to use a postal card campaign to regular customers and thousands of garages, and also posters bearing the same information have been displayed throughout the Commonwealth in garage windows.

However, the Acting Secretary feels that while the attitude of the public with regard to inspection has been improved, there are still far too many cars not bearing the new sticker within only ten days remaining before the end of the campaign, July 31, 1949. He urged all those who have not had this important check made upon their vehicles to attend to it within the next twenty-four hours. Otherwise, if they put it off until next week they will discover that practically all of the inspection garages are operating at full capacity and they may be embarrassed and inconvenienced by not being able to have the work done before the end of the period.

IT'S NOT THE HUMIDITY

"It isn't the heat, it's the humidity" is a statement that has aroused recent skepticism. A new school of thought has sprung up which maintains it is not bothered by humidity on cool days, and on hot days the humidity is easier to ignore than the heat. Now a tentative survey made by the New York City Health Department gives the humidity a clean bill of health.

The department dug out mean (average) temperature records for the last 25 summers, and death records for the city during the same period. It laid them alongside of each other. And it found that the following correlation existed, with only two exceptions:

Whenever the mean temperature was above 80 degrees for four or more successive days, the death rate was at least 20 percent above normal. When it was 85 or higher for at least two of those days, the death rate was at least 40 percent above normal. But during weeks when death rates were highest, relative humidity was not excessive.

With proper scientific caution, the department warns that the survey has not yet been completed and that these conclusions should not be taken as final. The effects of other factors — including barometric pressure, rainfall, hours of sunshine, wind velocity and other factors — are also being checked.

BROOK MINK, FAREWELL!

Congress is making a sly and covert attack on fantasy in the fur trade. In the very middle of the summer, just when the trade and its customers are off guard, the House of Representatives has passed a bill that would require furs to be called by their right names.

This is a serious matter. If the Senate passes the bill and the President signs it, a muskrat coat will have to be labeled as being made of muskrat fur, and cannot be called Hudson seal, brook mink, river sable, hudsonia or something else that no woodsman or trapper ever heard of. Maybe trappers never heard of these creatures but Miss 1949 has. Advertisements have been full of their names.

Through the years a whole new world of natural history has grown up — peopled by little animals of far greater variety than can be found in a Disney technicolor film. If there's no such animal as a brook mink, there ought to be. Surely a brook mink wouldn't have any bad habits like killing chickens. And it should be mighty cute and sassy in its gambols on the grassy bank.

One year after passage of the law, all descriptions of garments must describe the furs by their proper, or wild, names. The fanciful, or store names, must go. And with them will go a dream world of little furry creatures with Disneyish shapes and droll, affectionate ways. It will be a sad day. But maybe the muskrat, skunks and rabbits will be glad after all, and hold their heads a little higher from then on.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Lopsided Setup

Washington, July 23. INDUBITABLY, a steel strike would be a damaging blow to the general economy of the country, from which, in one way or another, almost every citizen would suffer. Under normal conditions the efforts of the President, put forth in the public interest, to avert such a strike should command overwhelming support.

BUT, under existing conditions, the current presidential efforts very clearly do not do so. The reason is that it reeks with false pretense and unfairness. It is an obvious fraud to contend that Mr. Truman's action and attitude are solely in the public interest. It is an insult to the intelligence of the American people to ask them to regard him as impartial and open-minded in this struggle. The undisputed facts of the last nine years of this controversy between the union and the company have begun to be discussed he has thrown the full White House weight on the union side.

THIS, of course, is in complete accord with the Truman record in the second and third wage-raises drive and with the Roosevelt record for the last nine years of his incumbency. The hard and fast political alliance with the CIO, which the latter contracted and the former has continued, inevitably made both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Truman strong partisans on every issue and regardless of merit. It will be recalled that in 1944, after Mr. Roosevelt, under CIO pressure, had retreated from his implied promise to the industry. The latter will balk but it isn't easy to see how, with full Administration support, Mr. Murray can lose in the end. Meanwhile, the automobile workers and other big unions are waiting to see how much of a victory he gains before launching their drives. They, too, will have presidential support. Of course, it is all wrong.

In any controversy between labor and industry, the primary concern of every President should be the public interest. Mr. Truman's political alliance with the CIO and the extent to which the CIO has penetrated his Administration makes this impossible for him. No one wants the President to be anti-union more than they want him to be anti-industry. But with every labor-industry struggle to have the President wholly on the labor side is as unwise as it is unjust. So long as the big labor bosses can count the White House as their basic asset, this nation will not regain its economic health. Unchecked, this White House-CIO alliance means a labor dictatorship of the most offensive sort.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Edward G. Yeomans
Pastor
Bristol Presbyterian Church

Prepare our hearts, we beseech Thee, our loving heavenly Father, as we await our coming together in the Lord's House on the Lord's Day. May we join our hearts with the heart of the Psalmist of old as he declared concerning himself, "I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord." May we not forsake or neglect our coming together for the purpose of worship as so many people do. May our devotion to Jesus Christ be the power that moulds our lives, that lifts us above temptation, that helps us to become more than victorious through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

FRANKLIN WINS OVER FIREMEN BY THE SCORE OF 3 TO 0

Three runs in the first inning was enough for Franklin A. C. to score a 3-0 victory over Fire Company No. 1 last evening on Leedom's field. "Jim" Brescia hurled the shut-out triumph and allowed the firemen but one hit, a single by Arnold Moore in the second inning.

The Franklin team hit "Eddie" Kornichuk quite hard in the first frame as "Tommy" Kervick doubled to right and "Toby" Oriola did the same thing. Art Massi followed with a base hit and Fred Fields drew a walk. Bert Barbeta advanced the runners with a sacrifice but Anthony Capello and Wallick did not connect.

After the first, Kornichuk whitewashed the Franklin team and gave up but two hits.

GAMES RAINED OUT IN SOFTBALL LEAGUE

Last evening's shower came just a bit too early as far as the Fleetwing Estates softball team is concerned. If the shower had held off a little longer, the Estates aggregation would have sprung the biggest surprise in softball.

Estates, in the cellar of the Bristol Suburban Softball League, with but one victory in 21 games, was leading the Second Ward team, which is on top in the circuit, by a 6-2 score in the last half of the fifth.

As Second Ward was home team, it had to receive five bats to complete a game. The first batter in the lower part of the inning, L. Palumbo, singled. Cochrane flied out and then came the rain, causing the game to be called and preventing Estates from getting a triumph.

The Fourth Ward A. C. was leading Bell's Aces, 4-1, at the end of the third inning when rain interfered and forced the calling of the game. The game was being played on Memorial Park field.

ST. ANN'S PREPARES FOR FOOTBALL SEASON

St. Ann's A. A. is making preparations for its 1949 football season. Dominick "Sags" Sagolla, coach of Council Rock High School, will guide the "Saints" on the gridiron this season.

Coach Sagolla intends to call his first practice session during the first week of August. Football players of this section, wishing to play for the St. Ann's team, are requested to contact Sagolla or athletic director, John Scordia, at the St. Ann's club house.

According to an announcement by Scordia the Purple and Gold intends to enter the Northeast Football Conference. The "Saints" were members of this conference two seasons ago and entered the finals after winning their division. It lost to Bridesburg in the semi-final match.

Last season, St. Ann's played an independent schedule, meeting some of the best teams in this section and New Jersey.

GROWING TUMMIES

BOONVILLE, Mo., (INS) — One thousand boys, their parents and youth leaders held an outing near Boonville recently. There is no doubt that everybody's stomach was satisfied. They emptied 1,280 bottles of pop and put away 2,640 hot dogs.

AUSSIE AIRLIFT

MELBOURNE, (INS) — A Quantas Empire Airways Douglas freighter has been dropping supplies in the Purari River area of New Guinea for the Australian Petroleum Company. In 16 lifts 90,000 pounds of supplies were dropped. Only one bag of sugar was lost.

MORRELL & MUTH STAGE FINE DUEL IN YOUTH GAME

"Dave" Muth and "Jimmy" Morrell, two of the best hurlers in the Bristol Youth League, hooked up in a fine duel last evening at Croydon with the game ending in a scoreless tie.

In the five innings played, only sixteen batters faced Morrell and only two hits were made. Frank Rich socked a double in the second and Dave Muth singled in the third. Muth was wiped up in a double-play.

After Rich doubled, Weida was hit with a pitched ball but was caught off first to end a Terrace threat.

Croydon had two runners on base in the second and two more in the third. It loaded the bags with two out before the rain came but Holgate lifted a fly to Joe Muth to end the inning.

progress.

They do not allow billboards, dog wagons, juke box joints, hamburger stands, saloons, ice cream fountains, diners, old car junk yards, golf ranges, dine-and-dance emporiums or even good humor men.

They do not even allow you to throw paper plates, newspapers, bubble gum wrappers or bodies out of a car! And what I say is, what is the good of civilization if you can't take it with you?

It seems to me the AAA ought to warn innocent motorists they are leaving civilization behind them, once they hit these parkways. There is simply nothing to look at for mile after mile except the Hudson river—and, after all, what is that except a mess of water?—Birds and bees, flowers and trees, green mountains, lakes and streams.

An innocent party who gets mixed up with all that scenery could die of starvation between dog wagons. Even then, he will have to get off the park system and hunt for his dog and wagon in the interior.

Even the gas stations are thirty miles apart, built of something called native field stone and half hidden in the scenery. If it were not for the familiar smell of can de carbon monoxide, a motorist might well think he were in the wilderness.

So it is no wonder New Yorkers get the idea that Indians still lurk just north of the city limits, ready to put the old whammy on them. After all, when a man keeps driving and driving and never comes to a neon sign, even an Indian one would be welcome.

Now there is none of this namby-pamby nonsense about scenery in New Jersey where the Robbs have what is laughingly known to an assortment of artisans, carpenters, plumbers, electricians, painters and odd-job men as their country home. New Jersey is an up-and-coming state and if there is any scenery in it, it has long since been covered up with billboards, as is right and proper.

We sail up and down N. J. State Highway 29 twice weekly to Flemington and, believe me, we have never yet been annoyed by any of that native scenery. If there are any vistas, views or panoramas, the billboard people have had the decency to obstruct, obscure or obliterate all traces of same. And what the billboard people have missed, the hot dog, hamburger, juke-box and dine-and-dance people have taken care of.

At least, there is something for the motorist to look at in New Jersey. And if, in the course of looking he loses his appetite, he at least knows he has been protected from any entanglements with that outmoded stuff known as scenery.

Scenery—for jerks or for the stage. But keep that horse-and-buggy stuff off the super-highway. Bud, if you don't want to make a laughing stock out of your state.

Forty High School Boys To Go Into Camp for Week

STATE COLLEGE, July 23 — Forty high school boys from southern and southwestern sections of Pennsylvania will arrive at the Junior Conservation Camp in Stone Valley, near Petersburg, tomorrow. They will remain in camp until August 3.

The camp is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs. Robert Cooper, president of the Federation, says the aims of the camp are to give boys an appreciation of the wise use of our natural resources; to develop better human resources in having the boys outdoors in wholesome activities and hobbies; and to improve social resources by having the boys work together and adjust to group activities as a part of their training.

The Stone Valley Camp, built for the summer training of Penn State civil engineering students, consists of tents, each with facilities for four boys; a central administration building; and a dining hall. Charles W. Stoddard, extension director of the School of Physical Education and Athletics at Penn State, is state chairman for the camp while Charles Ridenour, also on the Penn State faculty, is camp director. James C. and John D. Dittmar, twin brothers of Leysburg, are counselors.

Counties which will send boys to the camp tomorrow are Milford, Juniata, Dauphin, Perry, Lebanon, Lancaster, York, Adams, Franklin, Cumberland, Armstrong, Indiana, Westmoreland, Allegheny, Washington, Greene, Fayette, Somerset, and Beaver.

Justices May Hold 24-Week Refresher Course

DOYLESTOWN, July 23 — A 24-week refresher course in minor judicial training is being considered by members of the Bucks County Magistrates and Justices of the Peace Association. The holding of a class is also being planned for September. The class may be held at the Killian Country Club, Eddington.

In the absence of the president, Walter Scheetz, Riegelsville, Justice of the Peace Fred L. Bickel, Warminster, presided, and one new member, Justice of the Peace B. Frank Brunner, this place, was welcomed.

Secretary I. Elizabeth Jones, Jamison, read a communication from Harold W. Pierce, Public Service Institute, Department of Public Instruction, asking whether Justice of the Peace Horace A. Cooper, Middletown township, will serve as instructor for the refresher course in civil and criminal classes.

Justice of the Peace Cooper, who said he didn't expect to be around all winter, declined the responsibility of serving as the instructor and suggested that some one else be elected in his place.

Max M. Lawrence, Bristol; Horace A. Cooper, Langhorne; and Richard A. Hopkins, Hulmeville, were named members of a picnic committee to arrange a clambake picnic for the latter part of September at Killian's Country Club.

The next meeting of the County organization will be held at Riegelsville Thursday, August 18, when the Northampton Justices of the Peace will meet jointly with them.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

President Truman's program to supply military aid to the nations associated with the United States in the North Atlantic treaty will be submitted to Congress on Monday.

Some of the strongest critics of the plan conceded that it was likely to win Congressional approval. Mr. Truman had originally intended to send his plan to Congress yesterday but withheld it at the request of Senate leaders.

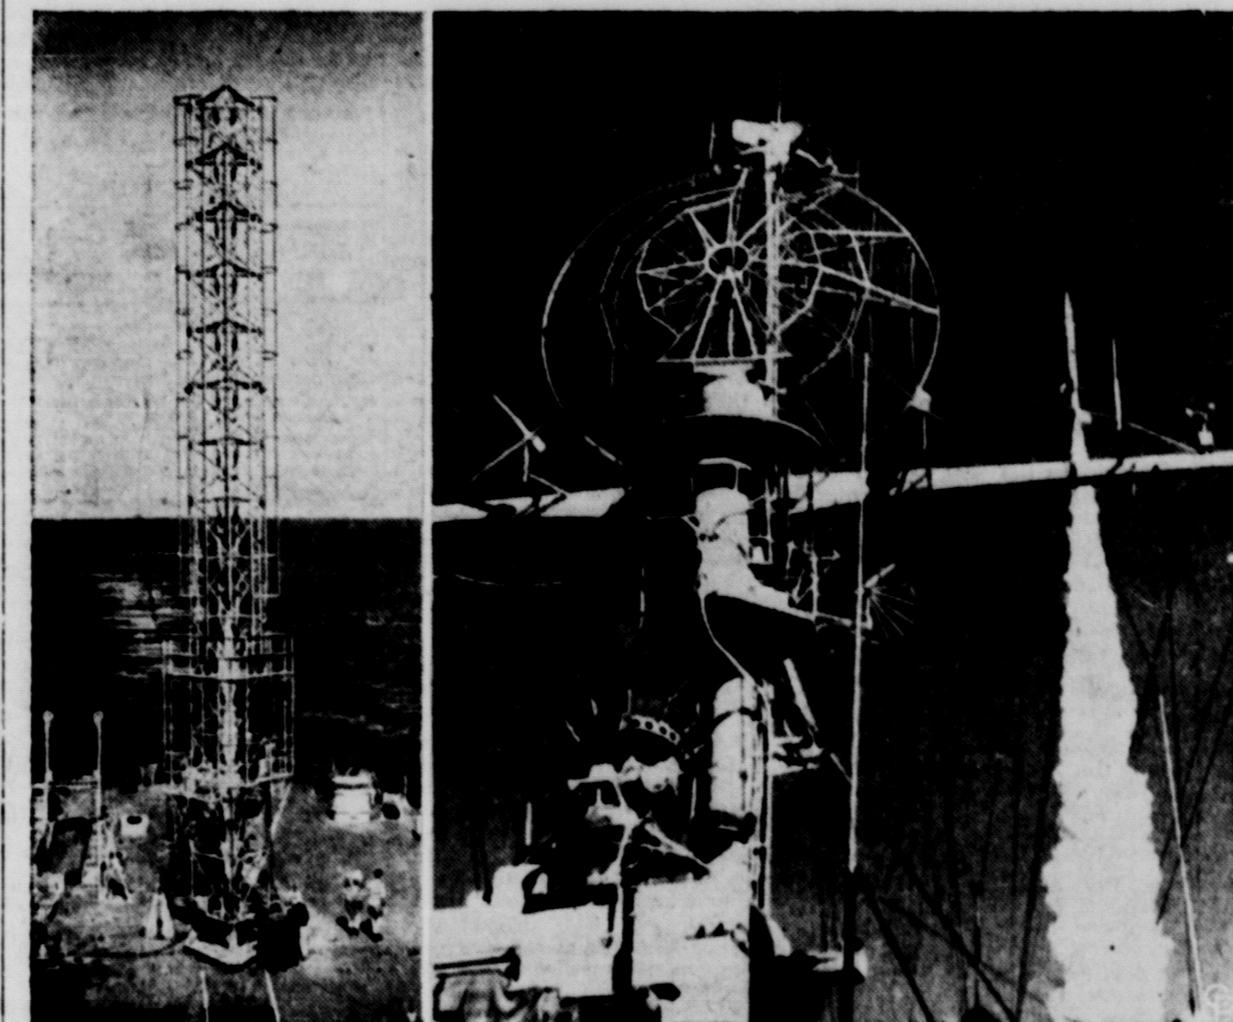

Proposed slashes in Marshall Plan spending probably will be approved by the Senate, it was indicated as that body opened debate on the $5,573,724,000 bill for financing foreign aid through the present fiscal year.

The French National Assembly began its debate on ratification of the North Atlantic Treaty and was expected to vote Sunday or Monday. Soviet newspapers condemned the treaty as a threat to world peace and asserted that most Americans opposed it.

A document purportedly describing the entire code of laws governing forced labor in the Soviet Union was made public by the British Government and will be circulated among members of the United Nations Economic and Social Council.

KNOWLEDGE LACKING ON IMPACT OF TRADE

Americans Are Not Familiar With Impact of Such In China

NO TRADE LICENSED

By Howard Handelman

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent) TOKYO, July 23 (INS) — American lack of knowledge of the impact of new Siberian industries has been illustrated vividly in Tokyo. A Chinese trader declared that Siberian industry could not become an effective supplier of North China because Soviet prices are too high.

Foreign trade officials on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's staff, asked for their opinion on whether this was true, said: "We just don't have enough information on Siberian industry or Siberian price levels to make any intelligent comment."

State Department economists in Tokyo threw up their hands, too, on the same grounds.

Military intelligence knows that the Russians are bending every effort to develop a complete and self-sufficient industrial plant in Siberia.

Reports from thousands of Japanese repatriates do not fill in details on the place that Siberia could take in trade competition in Asia or anywhere else, the cost of production, the quality of production or even the quantity of production.

MacArthur's Foreign Trade Division said it has been approached quite often by Japanese and Chinese traders who claim they can make deals with North China, but said that so far none has been able to quote prices or delivery dates so no trade has been licensed.

It has been fairly well established however, that Japanese goods are going to North China via Hongkong, which has supplanted Shanghai as the main trading center of Asia.

Warns of Expiration Of Period For Inspection

HARRISBURG, July 23 — Acting Secretary of Revenue Otto F. Messner announced today that all vehicles must be inspected by mid night, July 31, 1949, or those who are delinquent may find themselves in violation of the law.

Acting Secretary Messner stated that a recent check-up shows that a very high percentage of all vehicles observed on the streets have already been inspected and bear the current sticker. He added that in the last few years efforts made by the Department, automobile dealers and other inspection station proprietors to encourage early inspections have been very successful.

Mr. Messner revealed that the trade has continued to use a postal card campaign to regular customers and thousands of garages, and also posters bearing the same information have been displayed throughout the Commonwealth in garage windows.

However, the Acting Secretary feels that while the attitude of the public with regard to inspection has been improved, there are still far too many cars not bearing the new sticker within only ten days remaining before the end of the campaign, July 31, 1949. He urged all those who have not had this important check made upon their vehicles to attend to it within the next twenty-four hours. Otherwise, if they put it off until next week they will discover that practically all of the inspection garages are operating at full capacity and they may be embarrassed and inconvenienced by not being able to have the work done before the end of the period.

IT'S NOT THE HUMIDITY

"It isn't the heat, it's the humidity" is a statement that has aroused recent skepticism. A new school of thought has sprung up which maintains it is not bothered by humidity on cool days, and on hot days the humidity is easier to ignore than the heat.
Now a tentative survey made by the New York City Health Department gives the humidity a clean bill of health.

The department dug out mean (average) temperature records for the last 25 summers, and death records for the city during the same period. It laid them alongside of each other. And it found that the following correlation existed, with only two exceptions:

Whenever the mean temperature was above 80 degrees for four or more successive days, the death rate was at least 20 percent above normal. When it was 85 or higher for at least two of those days, the death rate was at least 40 percent above normal.
But during weeks when death rates were highest, relative humidity was not excessive.

With proper scientific caution, the department warns that the survey has not yet been completed and that these conclusions should not be taken as final. The effects of other factors — including barometric pressure, rainfall, hours of sunshine, wind velocity and other factors — are also being checked.

BROOK MINK, FAREWELL!

Congress is making a sly and covert attack on fantasy in the fur trade. In the very middle of the summer, just when the trade and its customers are off guard, the House of Representatives has passed a bill that would require furs to be called by their right names.

This is a serious matter. If the Senate passes the bill and the President signs it, a muskrat coat will have to be labeled as being made of muskrat fur, and cannot be called Hudson seal, brook mink, river sable, hoodsonia or something else that no woodsman or trapper ever heard of. Maybe trappers never heard of these creatures but Miss 1949 has. Advertisements have been full of their names.

Through the years a whole new world of natural history has grown up — peopled by little animals of far greater variety than can be found in a Disney technicolor film. If there's no such animal as a brook mink, there ought to be. Surely a brook mink wouldn't have any bad habits like killing chickens. And it should be mighty cute and sassy
in its gambols on the grassy bank.

One year after passage of the law, all descriptions of garments must describe the furs by their proper, or wild, names. The fanciful, or store names, must go.
And with them will go a dream world of little furry creatures with Disneyish shapes and droll, affectionate ways. It will be a sad day.
But maybe the muskrats, skunks and rabbits will be glad after all, and hold their heads a little higher from then on.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Lopsided Setup

Washington, July 23.

INDUBITABLY, a steel strike would be a damaging blow to the general economy of the country, from which, in one way or another, almost every citizen would suffer. Under normal conditions the efforts of the President, put forth in the public interest, to avert such a strike should command overwhelming support.

BUT, under existing conditions, the current presidential effort very clearly does not do so. The reason is that it reeks with false pretense and unfairness. It is an obvious fraud to contend that Mr. Truman's action and attitude are solely in the public interest. It is an insult to the intelligence of the American people to ask them to regard him as impartial and open-minded in this struggle. The undisputed facts contradict any such idea. The plain truth is that before the merits of this controversy between the union and the company have been to be discussed he has thrown the full
White House weight on the union side.

THIS, of course, is in complete accord with the Truman record in the second and third wage-rise drive and with the Roosevelt record for the last nine years of his incumbency.
The hard and fast political alliance with the CIO, which the latter contracted and the former has continued, inevitably made both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Truman "hot strong partisans on every issue and regardless of merit. It will be recalled that in 1944, after Mr. Roosevelt, under CIO pressure, had retreated from his implied promise to Mr. James F. Byrnes, he ordered that the Truman nomination for Vice President be "cleared with Sydney," of course, was the late
Mr. Hillman, head of the CIO's
Political Action Committee. It will be further recalled that, following orders, Mr. Truman personally called upon Mr. Hillman and Mr. Philip Murray, CIO head, at their Chicago hotel and did "clear"
his candidacy with them.

THIS political alliance is basically degrading to the White House incumbent. It means that in return for political support he barbers his freedom and his judgment in polsoned on issues involving the public safety. It also means a personal intimacy with sometimes unsavory and not always reputable individuals, whose concern is solely for themselves and the special interest they represent. Naturally, this situation made—and makes—strong CIO partisans of the presidential aides and advisers. In Mr. Roosevelt's case, this included Mrs.
Roosevelt, his children and all his intimates, such as the late Mr. Hopkins of "Tax, Tax, Spend, Spend, Elect and Elect" fame. In Mr. Truman's case, it includes two members of his Economic Council, National Democratic Chairman Howard Mc-Grath; his assistant, William
Boyle, and numerous inherited Roosevelt proteges of whom Mr.
David Niles, still stationed in the White House is an example), to say nothing of the professional
"liberal" columnists and commentators.

MANY would include in this list
former Judge Samuel Rosenman, whom Mr. Truman has put on his "fact-finding" board and who was one of the most potent of the old Roosevelt advisers and speech writers. At any rate, CIO publicity and CIO favoring journalists complacently assert that from the start Mr. Truman "has worked closely with Mr. Murray" in this business.
All the CIO leaders are enthusiastic about setting a board outside the Taft-Hartley Act, and particularly are pleased at the White House pressure which forced the steel companies to accept it. They also are highly pleased with the board's personnel, glad to have it assemble the facts and make recommendations. In brief, there is a fine, large confidence in higher CIO circles that the board will perform satisfactorily for them.

THIS may do its members an injustice and it is possible they may submit a sound and judicial report.
Nevertheless, it must be admitted that the strong political bond between Mr. Truman and the CIO, the known predilection of at least two of his appointees, the high praise with which the CIO propaganda is now drenching Mr. Truman and the open pro-CIO character of the Administration political strategists and several members of the Truman Cabinet, all combine to justify the feeling that anything like strict impartiality is extremely unlikely. Certainly, the setup is one-sided, well calculated to offend the sense of fair play innate in the ordinary man. This steelworkers' union feels a little aggrieved. On the contrary it is big and strong and rich, fully capable of holding its own with the biggest industrial concern. But to have the sympathetic support of the President of the United States is an enormous advantage in any wage controversy.
It makes it extremely difficult for the other side to get its case before the public. The Administration and CIO publicity, supplemented by the highly articulate and quite numerous "liberal" spokesmen, drown out the voices of the opposition.

THIS is routine union strategy. The Truman board's report is due in about 40 days. It is expected to propose a compromise acceptable to the union but very unacceptable to the industry. The latter will balk, but it isn't easy to see how.
Meanwhile, the automobile workers and other big unions are waiting to see how much of a victory he gains before launching their drives.
They, too, will have presidential support. Of course, it is all wrong.
In any controversy between labor and industry, the primary concern of every President should be the public interest. Mr. Truman's political alliance with the CIO and the extent to which the CIO has penetrated his Administration makes this impossible for him. No one wants the President to be anti-union any more than they want him to be anti-industry. But with every labor-industry struggle to have the President wholly on the labor side is as unwholesome as it is unjust. So long as the big labor bosses can count the White House as their basic asset, this nation will not regain its economic health. Unchecked, this White House-CIO alliance means a labor dictatorship of the most offensive sort.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Edward G. Yeomans
Pastor
Bristol Presbyterian Church

Prepare our hearts, we beseech Thee, our loving heavenly Father, as we await our coming together in the Lord's House on the Lord's Day. May we join our hearts with the heart of the Psalmist of old as he declared concerning himself, "I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord." May we not forsake or neglect our coming together for the purpose of worship as so many people do. May our devotion to Jesus Christ be the power that moulds our lives, that lifts us above temptation, that helps us to become more than victorious through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.
